

High Scaling for VCE German

No matter which course you are interested in, you can improve your Tertiary Entrance Ranking score with German.

In 2007, a VCE German raw score of 20 became a 28^{TER}

20 → 28

25 → 34

30 → 40

35 → 45

40 → 48

45 → 52

50 → 54

Other Bonuses to Learning Languages & German

Brain Food: People who have learned other languages show greater cognitive development in areas such as mental flexibility, creativity, and higher order thinking skills, such as problem-solving, conceptualizing, and reasoning. Persisting with learning another language is worth the effort!

Global Citizen: Language and culture are inextricably linked. Through learning another language you develop intercultural skills for dealing respectfully with people from all walks of life and cultural groups and your ability to deal with unfamiliar situations. Learn locally today to act globally tomorrow.

International experience: Study or research in German-speaking countries is a real option at universities for many degrees and courses, even those that do not offer German.

Eighty per cent of Australian companies surveyed by RMIT indicated they would prefer to employ graduates who have had international industry experience during the course of their studies. Employees with language and intercultural skills are highly regarded and needed by employers hoping to compete in a global community.

Dare to be Different: Make your CV stand out from the others by being able to list German as one of your VCE subjects no matter which career pathway you have in mind. Learning another language demonstrates your willingness to accept a challenge.

Proficiency in Language Learning: German's similarity to English often means you make greater progress than with some other languages if you commit to learning the language. With higher levels of proficiency you learn more about how to learn languages, a skill you can transfer to learning any other language you may need to learn in your future life. The future is unpredictable. We do know that multilingualism will be an asset to employability in Australia and around the world. So prepare yourself for the unknown:

Learn German for Your Future!

Deutsch für die Zukunft

Compare the scaling for German to other VCE studies

VCE Study	Raw Score	Scaled	Raw Score	Scaled
German	20	28	40	48
Chemistry	20	22	40	44
Physics	20	21	40	43
Biology	20	19	40	41
Accounting	20	18	40	41
ESL	20	16	40	41
English	20	17	40	40
Legal Studies	20	17	40	40
Further Mathematics	20	18	40	38
Physical Education	20	17	40	38
Visual Design & Commun.	20	16	40	37
Business Management	20	16	40	37

Source: VTAC Scaling Report 2007

If your teacher tells you that you are good at German
and/or

If you enjoy learning German
and/or

If you want to go on to further study beyond school
and/or

If you want to travel or work overseas.....

Pick German as one of your key subjects for VCE!

Increase your ENTER score for further study!

Develop the global citizen skills of knowing how to learn languages & understanding different cultures!

Open doors not yet imagined!

Learn German for the Future!

Deutsch für die Zukunft